angustifolius Aiton
A. crinifolium Lehm. ex Schltdl. (4)
Perennial. Herb, geophyte, hydrophyte: epihydate/hyperhydate. Ht depending on depth of water, up to 1 m. Alt 4–245 m. WC (endemic)

azureus H.Bruggen
Perennial. Hydrophyte: rosulate/epihydate. Ht depending on depth of water. Alt ± 1263 m. N (endemic)

crinifolium Lehm. ex Schltdl. = A. angustifolius

desertorum Zeyh. ex A.Spreng.
A. dinteri Engl. & Krause (4)
A. holubii Oliv. (4)
A. kraussianus Hochst. ex Krauss (4)
Perennial. Herb, geophyte, hydrophyte: epihydate/hyperhydate. Ht depending on depth of water, ± 0.5 m. Alt 60–1220 m. N, B, LIM, NW, EC

dinteri Engl. & Krause = A. desertorum

distachyos L.f.
Perennial. Herb, geophyte, hydrophyte: epihydate/hyperhydate. Ht depending on depth of water. Alt 10–300 m. WC (endemic)
Notes:
(a) According to Van Bruggen (1973), Ecklon & Zeyher 107 (K) was collected at Uitenhage. There are no records in GRA, PEU and PRE of this taxon occurring so far up the east coast.
(b) PRE has a record of A. distachyos growing in a natural pool of a permanent stream near Starvation Creek, Berlin State Forest, M. This, no doubt, is a garden escape that has naturalised in that area.

holubii Oliv. = A. desertorum

(7) Lock. 1999b. FTEA Xyridaceae: 1–24.
(8) Lisowski et al. 2001. Flore d'Afrique Centrale: Xyridaceae: 1–119.

Notes: the taxon X. capensis is very variable and has been regarded as a complex of several species. Lock (1998, 1999a) reinstated X. huillensis, X. rubella and X. straminea as separate species for tropical East Africa, while Lisowski et al. (2001) recognised X. straminea but not X. huillensis for the Floras of Congo, Rwanda and Burundi. The southern African Xyridaceae are in need of a comprehensive revision. We recognise X. rubella and X. huillensis. X. straminea requires further investigation before a decision can be made as to whether this taxon should be recognised as distinct, and if so, at what level.

Southern Africa has the richest temperate flora in the world and encompasses a rich floristic diversity of approximately 24 000 taxa (species and intraspecific taxa) of 368 families, including more than 10% of the world's vascular plant flora on less than 2.5% of the earth's land surface area. Accurate coverage of this remarkable flora has been made possible at the species level through PRECIS (National Herbarium, Pretoria (PRE) Computerised Information System), maintained by the National Botanical Institute. PRECIS includes all indigenous and naturalised plants recorded from the same area as the Flora of southern Africa (Namibia, Botswana, South Africa, Swaziland and Lesotho). This book is largely based on PRECIS and includes data on life cycle, life form, height of plant and altitude together with updated information on literature references, synonyms and regional distribution. Families are primarily grouped into seven more or less natural assemblages: Bryophyta, Hepatophyta, Anthocerotophyta, Pteridophyta, Gymnosperms, Dicotyledons and Monocotyledons. Family, genus and species names and synonyms are given in alphabetical sequence. The index guides the reader to the main entries of genera and families.
